Headline:
Rain approaching from the south overnight, heaviest in southern areas.

This Evening and Tonight:
This evening, showers across the country clear northwards, before rain approaches from the south overnight. This rain is likely to fall heavier in southern areas, breaking up and becoming patchy as it continues north. Winds strengthening, especially along western coasts. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Saturday:
The rain from overnight is quickly replaced by showers, these frequent, and heavy at times, possibly thundery. Some sunny spells remain possible. Easing slightly towards night, staying breezy throughout. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Remaining unsettled, with showers and sunny spells through this period. Sunday seeing the heaviest showers, with a risk of thunder. Drier on Monday and Tuesday, with more isolated showers.
